

NEW "IMAGINE" WORKSHOP COMING THIS AUGUST

Dream Makers Academy, Inc., is proud to announce it's latest workshop: "Imagine!"

This workshop is the culmination of all the best processes, skills, practices and knowledge ever used in one workshop before, both within Dream Makers Academy's courses and others.

Gary Acevedo, the founder of Dream Makers Academy, has been working non-stop with staff and participants to find out what they considered the most touching, moving and inspiring processes of all the trainings they ever attended. The results of this informal survey were so surprising that a brand new workshop had to be created around these top processes, as there were too many processes which were too specific to include in an existing workshop.

"The Imagine workshop will incorporate the best of the best inner-work technologies, each taken from one of over 500 workshops, trainings, seminars or retreats," said J.J. Ulrich, CEO of Dream Makers Academy.

The company plans to offer this workshop once a month to the public, but plans on keeping attendance for each workshop under 50 participants at a time. CEO J.J.

Ulrich encourages anyone interested to register on their web site, www.dreammakersacademy.com, if you are interested in attending the first course. He also mentions that to assist at the course, you must have first completed the course, as to see these new processes without going through them yourself would seriously detract from their experience when going through it in the future.

"Not even our staff members know what's going to happen, and we aren't telling them anything until after they go through it, it's going to be that intense!" J.J. added.

MONTHLY AUDIO/VIDEO COURSE IN POST-PRODUCTION

Joe Read, IT Director and multimedia expert at Dream Makers Academy, has informed staff that the first edition of the monthly Dream Makers Audio/Video course is almost complete. A preview of the video version of this course is currently being played at each workshop, and "will be available on the Dream Makers Academy website, (www.dreammakersacademy.com) later this month".

Gary Acevedo, founder of Dream Makers Academy, will be the facilitator and will use this course for giving more detail about skills and processes he teaches in other workshops but can't elaborate on due to time constraints. He also plans on having interviews with former participants utilizing these skills in a position of power or other influential manner, available as a bonus feature after each episode.

The course, once complete, will be available for purchase and delivery or download at dreammakersacademy.com.

THE AWAKENING TAKES IT UP A NOTCH

"The Awakening", the premier workshop of Dream Makers Academy, is being re-scheduled next year so that only two groups of participants will get to experience it instead of the four we had this year, staff members say.

"The level of insight and healing is going up, and we need to match that with larger groups so more people can contribute to that energy" says Gary Acevedo.

The Awakening's Phase I segment will occur only twice in 2009 instead of 4 times, and the Phase 2 segment will only occur once. The dates of these phases are still being finalized, but the company is committed to finding just the right balance between "training time and integration time".

MAGICAL REALMS OF THE SACRED SELF

Magical Realms of the Sacred Self, a workshop created by Gary Acevedo and Presented by Dream Makers Academy, will begin on July 31st, 2008, at the Salt Lake Community College (Miller Campus). Registration begins at 6:00 pm, and all participants wishing to attend are asked to pre-register on the company's web site.

Dream Makers Academy is inviting anyone wishing to attend to use the 'buy one, get one free' coupon included with this newsletter to bring a friend or family member, and strongly encourage couples to go through this workshop together.

This workshop is one of the more spiritual the company does, focusing on inherent inner goodness and power. This workshop features skills and technologies of more of an introspective nature than typical workshops, designed to help participants get more in touch with their feelings and desires, rather than helping outward conditions such as communication or situational coping. Typically participants leave the last day of the workshop feeling refreshed and at peace with themselves, often for the first time their entire lives.

Magical Realms has been hosted in the past by Tiffany and Nelson Reese in Park City, UT. Tiff and Nelson are following their desires with an overseas vacation and will be unable to facilitate this time around. The staff wish them a safe and happy trip.

Dream Makers Academy is offering a promotion for those wishing to attend, see attached coupon on this page.
